Title: Summer Youth Activities

Contact Officer: Tomas Smith – Venue and Events Officer

Current Situation

An enquiry has been received from Got2B asking to use Burwell Field, the area behind the playpark nearest the road, and The Leys Recreation Grounds to hold summer activities, on 4th July and 1st September respectively. The use of the Corn Exchange and Burwell Hall has been requested in case of poor weather conditions.

The requests are quite late, and although small and community driven, members should be aware requests should be received well in advance of the event and would be chargeable. Event plans and risk assessments are also required.

Both areas are available for use, as is Burwell Hall on the 4th July and the Corn Exchange on the 1st September for toilet use and poor weather alternatives as requested. Got2B have asked for access of both Halls until 18:00. Burwell Hall does have an evening hirer on the 4th July so the hall would require a deep clean at the end of the use by Got2B. This also impacts their usage requirements as the hiring group requires access from 15:45 which means the latest GOT2B could have hall access would be 14:45.

It's worth noting that Got2B have suggested that they use the area of the Leys opposite the Coffee Shed, this is not normally hired out and all events are usually directed to the showground. (Adjacent to Sainsburys)

Environmental impact

Having declared a Climate Change Emergency at its Council meeting on 26 June 2019 — with this in mind Councillors should have due regard to the environmental impact of any decisions they make with regard to its facilities and services it operates.

Risk

In decision making Councillors should give consideration to any risks to the Council and any action it can take to limit or negate its liability.

All requests for use of land must be treated fairly and consistently.

Financial implications

- ➤ The cost of hire at Burwell Hall on Thursday 4th July would be £48.00
- ➤ The cost of hire at the Corn Exchange on Thursday 1st September would be £133.50
- The cost of holding an event on town council owned land is £167.50
- ➤ The cost of caretakers to attend would be 2 4 hours at £9.90 per hour
- > The cost of cleaner to attend would be 1 hour at £9.90 per hour

Recommendations

Members are invited to note the report and,

- Consider the requests from Got2b to hold events at Burwell and The Leys Recreation Grounds [and at Burwell Hall & the Corn Exchange] and,
- ➤ If agreeable, propose to the Policy, Governance & Finance Committee that the cost of subsidised hire is covered from existing subsidised letting budgets.

I trust that this email finds you well and enjoying the sunshine!

I am emailing on behalf of Got2B regarding the activities we are planning for young people aged 13 - 17 in each of the three towns over the school Summer Holidays.

I want to check with each of you to see if we require an Events License for any of these activities, and to enquire about possible toilet arrangements for our staff in attendance.

On each of the listed activity days we plan to erect a 4m x 4m gazebo and bring picnic mats & inflatable chairs for young people to make use of.

Please find below a break-down of planned activities for each location - along with any requests we have.

Title: Skate Park – The Leys

Contact Officer: Project Officer - Nicky Cayley

Background

An updated skatepark is one of the Council's project aspirations for the forthcoming year. The Project Officer has met with four companies on site for initial discussions and has subsequently carried out a survey and drawn up a tender.

Current Situation

Focus for Tender

Having met with contractors, it was very clear that the Town Council will need to raise in the region of £100, 000 - £150, 000 in addition to the allocated budget in order to realise the project. The most likely source of funding is a grant scheme such as The Big Lottery Fund (Sport England's current funding pots all require crowdfunding which is not something that a Town Council is able to do).

If the Council is to be successful in getting a substantial grant, the application will need to stand out from all of the other skatepark applications. The Council is disadvantaged in that Witney as a whole is not a deprived area and it already has a skatepark – compared to an inner-city area with high levels of deprivation and no skatepark at all. It is worth noting though, that according to the West Oxfordshire District Summary 2021 from Oxfordshire County Council, Witney East and South are both in the 40% most deprived areas nationally. However, the project needs a "USP" (Unique Selling Point"). This is more important as there is not a high level of community involvement.

As discussed at the Full Council meeting of 11 April, there is a growing campaign led by Make Space for Girls to address gender inequality in parks and open spaces. According to Sport England in a survey of 130,000 children aged 5-16, the gender divide increases as girls reach ages 10 and 11. Make Space for Girls allowed the Town Council to use its survey to canvass local opinion from teenage girls. In the results, the girls use words such as "happy" and "excited" when describing how they felt going to the park as young children. 40% of girls responding the survey strongly agreed that they now hardly ever go to their local park and 40% agreed. Over 40% of respondents also agreed with the statement that adults expected teenage boys to play in parks more than teenage girls. The survey results also indicated that girls felt intimidated by boys in their local park and whilst almost 60% of respondents used to participate in wheeled sports when they were young, 50% of girls reported that they no longer participate in wheeled sports.

Research carried out by Women In Sport in 2021 reported: -

Less positively, half of the girls (51%) surveyed by Women in Sport were concerned that they were losing their fitness and 45% worried that it would be hard to get back into the habit of sport and exercise after the pandemic. Many have lost confidence in their sporting ability (41%) and many more are worried about being in large groups again (40%).

Two of the three resulting recommendations were: -

- More opportunities to be provided both in and out of school for girls to take part in sport and physical activity that meets their needs
- Action by local authorities to ensure outdoor spaces are safe and accessible to girls

The Project Officer would like to strongly recommend that one of the main focus points of the tender is provision for girls. The tender has been written with this in mind. Inclusivity for girls, however, should not exclude boys from the skatepark but the aim should create a space where they can co-exist. The Project Officer has also been in touch with Thames Valley Police concerning the possibility of removing the fence along the front of the skatepark to improve safety for users. The initial feedback is that the police would be in support of this, but a site meeting is being organised with Inspector Ball and some of the local team.

Tender Document

The draft tender document is attached to this report for consideration. It makes it clear to potential contractors that the project cannot go ahead unless additional funding is raised. At the initial meetings with the Project Officer, the contractors confirmed that this is not unusual and they would be prepared to give support to funding applications.

The tender document also requires that the successful contractor carries out two consultations with local users – one specifically focusing on provision for girls.

The tender has been left fairly open – the idea being that the contractors put forward their solutions to the issues listed, rather than the Council being prescriptive. Any proposal can be fine-tuned subject to local consultation and Council approval. The consultation carried out earlier by Ramp Up The Leys will be shared with the successful contractor.

Members will also note that the tender refers to the project as a "Wheeled Sports Facility". The previous working party was referred to as a "Wheeled Sports" Working party and officers have observed that the current park is heavily used by scooter riders. It also enables the park to be more inclusive to various activities, and age ranges. Some skate parks have banned scooter riding but as long as the right materials are used (such as steel edging) they should not cause any true damage. It would also require constant supervision if they were banned.

The tender will be sent to all the contractors that the Project Officer has met with and also advertised on the government portal Find A Tender.

Environmental impact

Having declared a Climate Change Emergency at its Council meeting on 26 June 2019 – with this in mind Councillors should have due regard to the environmental impact of any decisions they make with regard to its facilities and services it operates.

As mentioned previously, whilst concrete is the best option for a wheeled sports park, it is not environmentally friendly. The Council may therefore wish to consider ways of offsetting this.

Risk

In decision making Councillors should give consideration to any risks to the Council and any action it can take to limit or negate its liability.

There is some reputational risk associated with this if the project is publicised at the outset and the Council is not successful in raising grant funding.

Financial implications

The Council currently holds funding of £102, 000 for this project. The anticipated cost is between £150, 000 - £250, 000. The Council should consider a guide price to enter on the tender for contractors to work to.

Outstanding finance will need to be raised via grant funding.

Recommendations

Members are invited to note the report and consider the following:

- 1. Approval of the tender document as presented and its focus on provision for girls;
- 2. The cost of the project that will be entered on the tender;
- 3. When the tender should be sent out/published.

Introduction

Skateparks are perceived to be good provision for teenagers.

But research shows that they serve a relatively small proportion of the teenage population and are used by far fewer girls than boys.

This document sets out some basic data about skate parks in the UK and analyses why the data is as it is. It then looks at the questions that need to be asked before any new investment is made in a skatepark.

Finally, if a decision is made to build a skatepark, it sets out the steps that can be taken to make it more inclusive.

The data?

Who?

Most skateboarders are teenagers and the majority are male.

Only a relatively small proportion of the teenage population currently skateboard.

SEE INFOGRAPHIC FOR FULL STATISTICS

Where?

Skateboarding can take place on the street or in a skate park, but this document only covers designated skate park provision.

In 2020 there were:

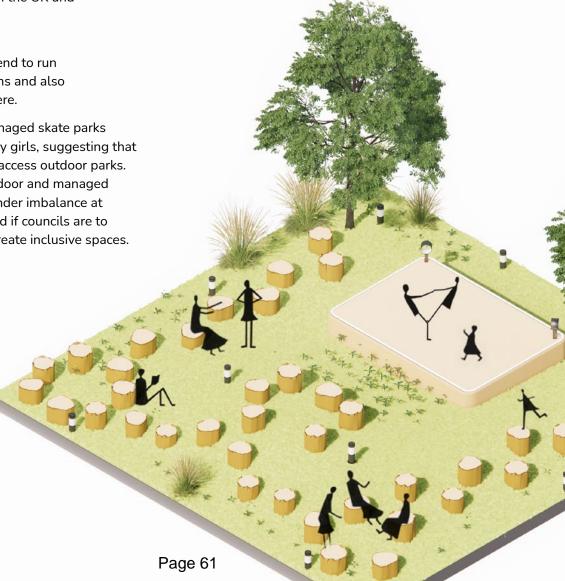

- c.1650 outdoor skateparks in the UK and
- c. 65 indoor skateparks.

Indoor/managed skate parks tend to run more girls/women only sessions and also feel safer because staff are there.

It also appears that indoor/managed skate parks achieve greater participation by girls, suggesting that more girls want to skate than access outdoor parks. But there are relatively few indoor and managed parks. This means that the gender imbalance at outdoor parks has to be tackled if councils are to deliver on their ambitions to create inclusive spaces.

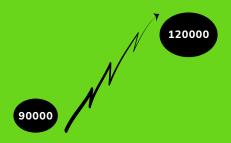

When?

There is no UK data about the times at which boys and girls use skate parks. However, the anecdotal evidence is that girls who do use skate parks often choose to do so when boys aren't there, often first thing in the morning, and that this is also true for adult women who want to skate.

There are 750,000 skateboarders the in the UK;

Female skateboarding grew by 24% in 2020 to approx. 112,000.

After this growth, 85% of boarders identified as male and 15% identified as female.

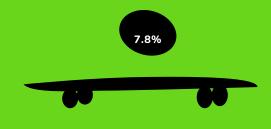

80% of skateboarders are under the age of 18.

Assuming male/female split across all ages, there are approx 90,000 under 18 girls skateboarding, and 510,000 boys.

ONS data indicates that there are approx 7.7 million young people between 8 and 18 in the UK. So, crunching the numbers this indicates that:

of 8-18s skateboard

A gender split of approx 13% of boys skateboarding; and 2.3% of girls.

We have used data from Cognosis which Skateboard GB shared with us in early 2021 and combined this with ONS population data.

Analysis

As the data shows, a relatively small proportion of teenagers are skateboarders, and very few of them are girls yet skateparks are often thought to be good overall teenage provision.

There are a number of potential reasons for this disconnect between the perception that skateparks are what teenagers want and what the data in fact shows.

What teenagers want?

First, adults may assume that a skate park is what teenagers want rather than asking them. Chester Borough Council surveyed young people in 2015 and only 17% of those asked said that more provision for wheeled sports was their top priority. Teenagers who engaged in workshops in Brent concluded that:

Preconceived ideas of what we want in public spaces (way too often in the shape of skateparks) fail to acknowledge our actual needs and desires.

Second: there are many organisations promoting skateparks as good and inclusive teenage provision. They advertise to themselves to councils, developers and funders as experts in what teenagers want/need, asserting the inclusive nature of skateboarding, but struggle to provide any data that supports this.

Third, skateboarders comprise a pre-existing special interest group who are afforded privileged access when it comes to consultation. Skatepark manufacturers provide a lot of support to young people – and also their parents – in how to lobby a council. But this may be commercially driven, not necessarily what the community most needs. The existence of a petition doesn't necessarily mean that a skatepark is the answer.

How boys behave

In many skateparks girls are excluded simply for being girls. Academic research is consistently clear that skateparks are highly male place. Boys are territorial about the space, and girls are seen as interlopers. Even girls who just sit and watch aren't exempt, being referred to as 'ramp tramps' or 'posers'.

This can become a circle of exclusivity: the more a park is dominated by boys, the more the girls will be excluded. As a result, female skateboarders will often find other places to practice, and are not served by the skatepark at all.

It's also worth noting that it's not just skateboarding girls who are put off; research has shown that the presence of a skatepark deters non skating girls from using other parts of that park.

More provision for wheeled sports was their top priority.

Exclusive by design

Many skateparks are designed by and for experienced skaters and make no provision for learners and less confident riders.

Design guidance produced by SkateboardGB states that "skateparks are primarily intended for skilled users and those actively seeking to acquire those skills" and suggests that consultation with the local skateboard community is the best way of producing a successful design. As a result that group is privileged in the consultation and other voices, such as those of girls or novice skateboarders, are not heard.

This tends to mean that the final design is one that suits the existing experienced skateboarders; it is the more difficult option and will exclude many potential users.

Conclusion

Skateparks are currently seen as an essential component of teenage facilities in parks and public spaces, but this is not supported by either the statistics or the voices of teenagers themselves

In particular, skateparks are not used much by girls and can make a park less welcoming for them, so any decision to build a new skate park has to be considered in terms of equality.

Work needs to be done with existing skate parks in order to make them more accessible to girls and young women.

Some dos and donts.

Before the decision to build a skate park is made, the following issues need to be taken into account

Do:

Ask questions to be sure that a skate park is a good answer. Will it serve a large proportion of the population or just a small (if vocal) group? Can the money be spent on something more equitable?

Check that any local authority taking decisions about the skatepark (whether in a funding, planning or leisure/ play provision role) has complied with its obligations under the Public Sector Equality Duty, in particular the need to have due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination and advance equality of opportunity.

Consult with as wide a group of teenagers as possible before any decision to invest in the skatepark. Seek out the teenagers to consult with: at schools, at youth groups, in their community groups.

Gather data how big the demand is for a skatepark relative to your local teenage population and what proportion of the budget would be used on the skatepark.

Understand the use of the facilities that currently exist, and how this is split by gender.

Ask questions of any provider bidding to build a skatepark. Do they have data that shows that they can deliver a skate park that is better than 85/15 boys/girls? Ask them what features of their skate park will make it inclusive and how they would bridge the gap between skate park design and use.

Don't:

Assume that a skatepark is the answer and consult with the skateboarders to check that assumption. Talk to as many different groups as possible.

Consult only at the park, make sure that you are talking to teenagers who don't currently go there as well.

Don't assume that what's been in the past is what needs to be there now.

Hand over the final say on which design goes forward to a group of skateboarders. Make sure that all groups are consulted at every stage

How can parks be made more inclusive?

If a new skate park is to be built, there are several ways to make them work better for girls.

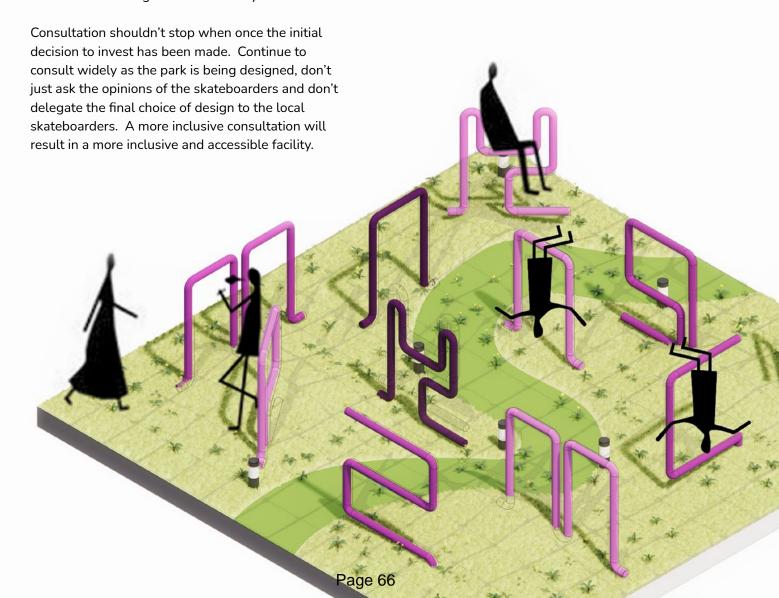

The key one is to design an inclusive park. This covers several different aspects:

- A park should designed for all wheeled sports, including bikes, scooters and rollerblading/skating;
- Areas for beginners and less experienced users;
- A space broken up into different areas so that one group cannot dominate;
- Located in a space which feels safe for all potential users, is well-lit and is used by other members of the public;
- There should be good toilets nearby.

The work does not end when the skate park is built. The overall plan should include measures to develop and maintain equitable use of the park.

This includes work to ensure inclusive behaviour at the skatepark, embedding better norms and ensuring that boys understand what behaviour is required from them. This will require engagement, classes or workshops, and staffing these, so funding has to be factored in.

Any plan must also find ways to support girl skaters in acquiring the skill and confidence to skate in the way they want to skate. Again, this will require staffing and engagement, so funding is essential.
