Overall engagement with young people had continued to be positive with outcomes and success evident as they brought large numbers of young people together.

The main issue that The Station faced was the lack of space in times of poor/cold weather for somewhere that the detached youth team could signpost young people to so that they may participate in an activity or just somewhere to sit and chat. Members discussed potential venues including the Corn Exchange however, it could only offer sporadic availability due to other community groups and existing bookings.

The member of the Witney Music Festival Team that was present indicated that he may be able to help facilitate introductions to the music venues around the town such as Fat Lils and Studio 7
