

If the bell ringing was confined to three sides of church green it would allow spectators to gather on the 4th side so they could see the entire line of bellringers and there would be no need for road closures. This diagram illustrates how this might work to ensure that spectators get to see the most ringers in action as possible.

